Choosing a betting site is not always easy.

Once all of the information has been considered, your decision may simply boil down to personal taste.

After all, the things that appeal to you may not necessarily appeal to the next bettor.

How easy is it to navigate through the site and find what you're looking for?

Is the site easy to read, or is it cluttered? Is the relevant information hidden or clearly displayed?

Most of the sites reviewed on this page meet the criteria, but there are ones that do stand out from the pack, such as Neds and Winner sBet.

Available Markets Another important factor to consider is the range of available sports markets that are available to customers.

Does the site cover the most popular markets in Australia? Are there any additional niche markets available? And finally, does the site offer your preferred bet types?

Scrolling through our listed options, Ladbrokes AU seems to come out on top when it comes to available markets.

Customers want the freedom to bet on the go and mobile apps allow them to do just that.

Thankfully, most of the top sites use the most common methods, such as debit cards, credit cards and PayPal.
