SB 154 legalized sports betting in 2021 exclusively at sportsbooks in the state's brick-and-mortar casinos.

All gambling winnings will be taxed at a flat rate of 24%.

How is gambling in North Carolina regulated?

The casinos on tribal reservations are regulated independently of the state by the Cherokee Tribal Gaming Commission (TGC).

The only online gambling permitted in the state is the lottery, which is regulated by the government's Lottery Commission.

Free social and sweepstake casinos are legal to play at since they don't allow real money gambling.

Because they operate across the whole of the US they do not hold individual state licenses.

Instead, they are independently audited by testing agencies like eCOGRA for fairness and security.
