Despite its name, Survey Junkie doesn't only offer surveys to earn money. They also provide opportunities to test products in exchange for points. You can try products ranging from packaged goods, like beauty products or cleaning products, to digital products, like television episodes and movie trailers. Product testing opportunities are rarer than surveys, so keep an eye out for a chance to be a product tester for Survey Junkie!

One of the best parts about using SheSpeaks is that they let you know how many points you can accrue by taking a survey beforehand. This prevents you from spending a long time on a survey only to be rewarded with a few points. You can get matched with product testing opportunities through SheSpeaks, which allows you to keep the product after you carry out the testing exercise.

This works for everyone involved. The company gets valuable feedback that can help them shape their products. This will ensure better sales figures once the product is up for sale. The testers, on the other hand, get to make money testing p roducts while having a say in shaping the products of tomorrow.

There are many websites offering testing opportunities. This allows you to choose those products you actually enjoy using and testing. The most important thing here is to try and provide useful feedback as much as possible. This will increase your chances of getting chosen next time there is a product testing opportunity.
