We all know that lots of people have an interest in gambling.

2 billion having gambled at some point in their lives.

in 2017 In The UK, total gross gambling yield 2017-18 was estimated at £14.5 billion

That's not that surprising when you consider that over 80% of Australian adults are said to be gamblers, which is also the highest rate in the world.

But no other nation spends half as much per adult on gambling, with nations like Ireland, Canada and Italy all spending under $600 per adult per year on betting.

That's not to say that those in other countries aren't serious about gambling as well.

In the UK, studies show that nearly 75% of adults gamble from time to time, and 85% of American adults are said to have gambled at least once in their lifetime with 80% of them having done so in the last year.
